MORRISVILLE.

Newspaper Notes from the Manufacturing Village.

We are having good weather for farming now and if it continues farmers will soon catch up with their work.

The Sunday school at Shady Glenn Academy is in a flourishing condition.

Mr. W. P. Downing of Anniston is visiting his kindred and numerous friends in this part of the country.

Miss Mollie Roberts, daughter of J. J. Roberts, is very sick with fever.

Mrs. Easterwood, wife of Mr. Harvey Easterwood, died Sunday night last.

Mr. J. A. Ferguson, of Fergusonville, came down to our town last Sunday. He said that he was out electioneering and although it would take only one vote to elect him he thought it very doubtful about his success.

People are complaining considerably with what they call grip, Mrs. T. H. Arnett's health is better this week. The farmers are making good use of this nice spring weather. They are fixing to plant more guano than usual, which indicates more cotton, and lower prices. Spring oats are looking nice. Wheat is coming out and making a very good show—not very much sowed. W. M. Whiteside is laying down lumber to build him a new dwelling house. Mr. Joseph Dothard says he would have been better pleased if it had been a boy.

QUINT SHOT.

Word comes from the Arkabut mountains of the death of Lord Herbert, an English nobleman. He came to Indian Territory some years ago and built a log hut in an unrefined spot. He lived by hunting and fishing and was looked upon with suspicion. One day he told a young man that he was Lord Herbert, an English peer, and for three years he was known by that name. Last week a party of cattlemen rode by and noticed his horse standing by the fence neighing and the dog standing in front of the door whining pitifully. They found the man in his bed, delirious and dying. The next day he died and the cattlemen buried him near his cabin.

William Harding Davis, the novelist, is said to be behind the latest literary scheme. It is to issue original American novelists' works, to be sold at 10 cents each. Each edition is to be of 50,000 copies and the books typographically to be fully equal to the present 50 cent paper covered book, usually limited to an edition of 3,000 copies. The profit comes from the number issued.

A Merry Millionaire.

The death at New Orleans the other day, of the rich young Englishman, Abingdon Baird, will be generally regretted in sporting circles.

Mr. Baird was born a gentleman and inherited a fortune yielding him an income of $750,000 a year. Although a millionaire, the young man sought the company of jockeys and ballet dancers, and spent his money freely upon his gay companions.

Now let us see what this youngster did with his money, or with his income, for he was able to get along without touching the principal. He spent hundreds of thousands of dollars for fine race horses.

He won and lost fortunes on prize fighters, and his visit to New Orleans was to place his money on one of the pugilists in the recent mill. Turning aside from his rough sports, he found time to run away with the wife of the marquis of Aylesbury and paid the injured husband $500,000 not to sue him.

He was the cause of the Lancashire divorce case, and figured prominently with such adventurists as Bessie Bellwood and Gladys Leslie. He posed as the lover of Mrs. Langtry and spent $600,000 on her, although he once knocked her down and gave her a black eye. His gifts were princely. When Mrs. Langtry wanted to visit America last year he gave her $300,000 to abandon her tour, and it is rumored that his will leaves her an income of $200,000 a year.

With his ability, his social position and his great wealth, Baird might have made his career a blessing to mankind. He had it in his power to aid literature, art and science, relieve the wants of the poor, build churches and establish free libraries and hospitals, but he seemed to have only one thing in view—his own pleasure, and his income was squandered in a continuous round of dissipation. For a gentleman of education and wealth, Abingdon Baird has certainly left behind him a remarkable record.

The monumental folly of such a life robs its ending of the solemnity that usually accompanies death—Atlanta Constitution.

The Mail and Express says that the first Republican to tender his resignation to President Cleveland after the latter's inauguration was Mr. S. Gilliam, the paying teller of the United States sub-treasury at Philadelphia. At the hour of noon, as President Harrison's administration closed, Mr. Gilliam mailed his letter of resignation and went to the penitentiary here on a charge of malpractice, obtained poison Saturday and yesterday managed to get it into the water drink by the guards. Twenty of the number were poisoned, and during the excitement Latimer, who was awaiting the opportunity, made his escape. One of the guards poisoned has since died.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

A Twenty-Seven-Year Servant Relieved by Gresham—Maxwell Getting in His Work.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Monday is a day of seclusion for President Cleveland, and he saw only a few visitors. He spent the day in his office working. Among the half dozen persons who saw him was Allen G. Thurman, Jr.

AFTER 27 YEARS OF SERVICE.

Dr. E. O. St. Clair, head of the consular bureau in the state department, has been removed. His resignation was today requested by Secretary Gresham. His successor has not yet been appointed. Dr. St. Clair has been in service since November 1865, over twenty-seven years.

SIXTY-SEVEN HEADS CUT OFF.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell today appointed 100 fourth-class postmasters, and of this number sixty-seven were to fill vacancies caused by the removal of incumbents.

The largest number of changes were made in the state of Wisconsin, where there were twenty-two appointments, fourteen of them being of incumbents, who were removed. In Arkansas there were eight appointments and four removals; in Kansas nine appointments and five removals; in Tennessee seventeen appointments and ten removals; in Virginia nine appointments and eight removals; in Georgia thirteen appointments, the incumbents in each case being removed.

ENTRA WORK FOR THE CLERKS.

Owing to the almost unprecedented accumulation of applications and other papers in the post office department bearing upon pending appointments, the entire clerical force of the department, numbering about 400, has been ordered to do extra duty between 4 and 5 o'clock each day, briefing and filling them for action.

POISONED THE GUARDS.

One of Michigan's Convicts Does It to Effect His Escape.

JACKSON, Mich., March 27.— Irving Latimer, a prisoner confined in the penitentiary here on a charge of malpractice, obtained poison Saturday and yesterday managed to get it into the water drink by the guards.

Twenty of the number were poisoned, and during the excitement Latimer, who was awaiting the opportunity, made his escape. One of the guards poisoned has since died.

Panic in Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 27.—The Mechanics Savings bank, with a capital of half a million dollars, suspended payment this morning.

Shortly afterwards the doors of the Bank of Commerce were closed. This bank had a capital of a quarter of a million.

The city is in a state of great excitement and people throng the principal streets.

It seems a genuine panic has struck the city.

It is expected two more banks will close their doors later this afternoon.

Judge DuBois Impeached.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 27.—The house of representatives on Saturday adopted resolutions impeaching Judge Julius J. DuBois and providing for three members of the house to prosecute him when the senate tries him. There are full thirty-five charges, and include almost every offense of which a judge could be guilty except bribery.

RIVALS THE TELEPHONE.

Professor Gray's Teletograph—Send Handwriting and Pictures Over the Wire.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—An exhibition was given of the practical working of Professor Gray's teletograph, or long distance writing machine, yesterday afternoon. The machine did its work neatly and seems to have added another marvel to the increasing list of wonderful electrical inventions.

The structure of the teletograph is simple. It consists of a transmitter and receiver, whatever is written at one end of the circuit being reproduced in facsimile at the other end. Arbitrary signs, pictures, diagrams, figures, tabulated statements, and cipher and shorthand writings are transmitted as well as ordinary handwriting, and the sender and receiver each has a record of every message and reply.

The transmitter is an ordinary lead pencil, near the point of which two silk cords are fastened at right angles to each other. These cords connect with the instrument, following the motions of the pencil and regulate the current impulses which at the distant station control the receiving pen.

Experiments were made on ordinary paper five inches wide, arranged on a roll attached to the machine. At the left is a lever so moved by the hand as to shift the paper forward mechanically at the transmitter and electrically at the receiver. A capillary glass tube placed at the junction of two aluminum arms constitutes the receiving pen, which is supplied with ink which flows from a reservoir through a small rubber tube placed in one of these arms.

The electrical impulses coming over the wire move the pen of the receiver simultaneously with the movements of the pencil in the hands of the sender. An ink tracing is always a fac-simile of the sender's motions.

"I have you removed from my place," she said, "and I will see that you lose your seat in the senate."

"I believe she would, too," said the senator in telling about the interview.

Another case somewhat similar to this of Secretary Morton's occurred yesterday. A cabinet officer heard of a woman holding a "si-ne-en-rec" in his department and sent for her immediate superior.

"Why isn't she discharged?" he asked.

"We would have a row on our hands," was the answer. "She is the sister-in-law of Congressman Blank."

"Mark her off," ordered the secretary, "she would go if she was removed." The people in this department will earn their money.

State Sunday School Convention.

The Eleventh Session of the Alabama State Sunday School Association will be held at the Methodist Church, in Opelika, Alabama, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 25, 26, 27, next.

All County and District Associations and all Sunday Schools are invited to send delegates. Prof. Hamill, who so delighted the convention at Huntsville last year, will be present as the representative of the International Convention, and many other prominent persons going from points at which through tickers to Opelika can not be obtained, should purchase tickets to Montgomery, Birmingham, or Childersburg, as may be most convenient; and at those points re-purchase tickets to Opelika, taking certificates from both railroads agent.

Programs will be mailed on applications to T. L. Jones, Montgomery, President, or to W. H. Williams, Amistown, Chairman of Executive Committee. All delegates will please forward names as early as possible to Mr. E. Brewer, Chairman of Committee on Entertainment, Opelika, Ala.

Colonel James M. Smith, of Oglethorpe, who is regarded as the best authority on farming in Georgia, reports the wheat and oat crops good, and says the outlook for more prosperous times are imminent. He better than since the war. He strongly advises the farmers of Georgia to plant less cotton and raise more food supplies.

TOOK HER NAME OFF.

Morton Stops the Salary of a Woman Who May Make Trouble.

FR. IN THE GLOBE-DOMINION.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—"Where is this person?" asked Senator James Z. George, of Mississippi, when he pointed to a name on the pay roll. Against the name was set a salary of $1,800 a year, the highest received by any person in the department of agriculture.

"She is away or leave," replied the clerk.

"How long has she been away?"

"Six months," replied the clerk.

"Strike the name from the roll," said the secretary.

Something was said about the "influence" behind the $1,800 appointment.

"It makes no difference who she is," said the secretary. "We will have no one drawing $1,800 a year and not rendering any service."

The name went off. And the old-timers are wondering what will happen when the woman comes back.

"Why?" said one startled employee. "the whole south is behind her."

They tell a story of a senator's experience with this woman. He had heard that she had said her husband was the inventor of the gun which killed more yankees than any other made in the south. It occurred to him to ask for her official head for the remark. The woman learned of the senator's action and she went to him.

"You have me removed from my place," she said, "and I will see that you lose your seat in the senate."

"I believe she would, too," said the senator in telling about the interview.

Another case somewhat similar to this of Secretary Morton's occurred yesterday. A cabinet officer heard of a woman holding a "si-ne-en-rec" in his department and sent for her immediate superior.

"Mark her off," ordered the secretary, "she would go if she was removed."

The last crop [1892-93] has brought higher prices than the preceding one. This resulted from the fact that it was much smaller. The price would have been much higher if there had not been a large surplus over the needs of consumption, coming from a very large crop of the preceding year [1891-92].

The natural rise in the price of crops now being marketed has been largely impeded by a great strike among operatives in the cotton factories in England. In this strike 60,000 operatives, working 21,000,000 spindles, have stopped work. The effect of this strike, up to this date, has been to decrease the amount consumed by British factories since September 1st, 525,000 bales, and is likely to amount in the near future to more than 100,000 bales in addition. This decrease in the demand has, by a certain law of trade, diminished the price, or which is the same thing, prevented a full rise which would otherwise have come from a small crop.

American spinners carried over from last season an unusually large stock of cotton, having bought heavily at the low price prevailing in the spring and summer, and whilst doing an exceptionally good business, they have taken so far 350,000 bales less than for the same period during last season. This also increased the surplus.

The prospect of another large crop, coming from increased acreage, if that should happen, would not only be an effectual bar to any rise in price but would cause still further decline, so that now the cotton raisers of the South are confronted with this serious question for solution, shall we, by an increased acreage in the crop now be able to determine the question of the acreage of last season, since a crop of 9,000,000 bales of 10,000,000 bales and thereby glut the markets

Some Hard Facts to Face.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The United States Senate, on April

1892, passed a resolution instructing its committee on Agriculture to make an investigation with the view of ascertaining the cause of the depression in agricultural products existing at that time.

Senator James Z. George, of Mississippi, was made chairman of a subcommittee to investigate cotton. Mr.

of Senator George's committee.

The scope of the investigation is broad and covers the matter of cotton production, the possibilities of the extension of culture, etc.

mittee will be completed by the

The Republican

NEW GRANT (Publisher)
TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1863.

The Selma Mirror professes not to be able to understand exactly the position of the Democratic party in the matter of frauds in election. The matter was stated plainly enough, we thought, to avoid any misconception of its meaning. The article which has attracted the attention of the press had reference alone to Calhoun.

There has never for many years past been the slightest danger that white men would not control the affairs of this county. They have always done so, with the exception of the time when the Republicans held control by the grossest frauds in elections, and at a time when many of our white voters were disfranchised.

The Montgomery Journal commenting on the paragraph in the Republican last week that Gen. Forney was finding pleasure in gardening since his return from Washington says:

"Gen. Forney has but heightened the respect all Alabamians have always entertained for him. Though he picks up the old family garden ripe simply for recreation, or for pastime, or for something to occupy his mind, now that he has thrown off the yoke of office that he has worn so gracefully and honorably for the last quarter of a century, the picture of the bent form of the old man, strong in mind, but feeble in body, who but so recently adored a seat in the federal congress, in cultivating vegetables and flowers with his own hands, is one worthy the brush of a Raphael; and one that every American can be proud of."

A dispatch from Florence says: Wash Strickland, a farmer living in west Lauderdale county, is wanted charged with murdering his five year old child. In a fit of passion Strickland threw his child against the side of the house with such force that it died shortly after. Strickland then became alarmed and left the neighborhood. Officers are in close pursuit, and he will probably be captured tomorrow.

The town lockup at Brewton was burned Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock. Will Goodson, a white boy about seventeen years old, one of the prisoners, was burned alive.

But while this is true, all honest men are agreed that the preservation of the purity of the ballot box is essential to the welfare of the people—their shield and protection against misgovernment and oppression.

Our white brothers in the black belt have the same reverence for the purity of the ballot box that the white people up this way have, and have always deplored the conditions that forced them apparently not to respect it. They were the men who urged a new election law that would eliminate the negro voter largely and permit them to return to fair methods.

We shall doubtless hear no more of ballot box stuffing in the black belt.

No man anywhere, who has a spark of honor or honesty, justifies a resort to ballot manipulation in the determining of issues between white men. But there are men in the white counties who have imported black belt methods and have been shameless enough to boast of their performances in this line. What has been condoned in the black belt, under the circumstances surrounding the people of that section, is high treason to a republican form of government and to Democracy in the white belt. It is a cardinal principle of Democracy that the majority shall rule. Any man who will overthrow the will of the majority by fraud is a traitor to Democracy and an enemy to popular government.

Consul to Tallassee.

Mr. Pope Barrow, Judge Madox, Steve Clay, Tom Glover and J. M. Dobbs called upon the president this morning. The object of the visit was to urge Mr. Dobbs for consul to the Valparaiso.

They called upon Secretary Gresham. Mr. Barrow tells a good one on Steve Clay.

During our talk, Mr. Gresham turned to Clay and asked: Where is it Mr. Dobbs wants to go? Steve had forgotten the name Valparaiso. He thought a moment and then quickly cried out: Tallassee.

The secretary scratched his head and was about to turn to his clerk to find where Tallassee was when the crowd laughed heartily at Steve's speech and corrected him.

It is such men as these the REPUBLICAN wants looked after in Calhoun. The conditions here do not demand any departure from the strict rule of fairness in elections, and the man or men who violate the election laws in this county deserve imprisonment in the penitentiary.

There may have been no frauds in this county, but there is a well settled conviction in the public mind that there has been, and this conviction is based as much upon the boasting of men who claim to have done the shameless work as upon anything else. It was to arrest further tendency in this direction that the REPUBLICAN invited attention to the matter, and so far as it could speak for it, to place the democratic party of the country on record as repudiating all such practices.

A Remarkable Family.

Dr. E. S. Evans was in town Wednesday with a photograph of the extraordinary Saddler family in Choctawhatchee valley, near White Plains. The house is a one room log house, built in the year 1835.

In front is an old fashioned spinning wheel, cotton cards, a grinding stone, axe and hen coop.

Across is a pair of wooden hames, made in the year 1825. The five old people sit in front in full view, and the likeness is life-like. At one corner of the house is the good Dr. Evans who makes it one of his care to see that these old people do not suffer. This family is perhaps the most remarkable in the state.

It consists of one brother and four sisters, all unmarried. Another unmarried sister aged 74 years died last year. The combined age of the five surviving members is four hundred and twenty-one years.

They have been living in this country sixty-one years, and in their present place of abode fifty-seven years. The oldest member is aged eighty-nine and the youngest eighty years. This last one has been demoted sixty-six years. They are all members of the church of Christ, or Campbellites, except the youngest. The father of this family died in the ninety-fifth year of his age.

The mother died in her seventy-sixth year, after being confined to her bed thirteen years. The grandfathers on both the paternal and maternal side were soldiers in the Revolutionary war. Grandfather

Happenings among the Students of the S. N. S.

The B. B. Q. Q. and R. P. club will have the annual meeting at London bridge Saturday morning between the hours of two and three.

Miss Mary Baumgarten has been quite sick for the past two weeks but is now improving.

Orry and Elbert Bynum spent last Sunday at their home.

The school is very much pleased with the idea of having the annual picnic at Oxford Lake. It depends largely upon what our parents say. Please let us go.

NOTICE.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Jacksonville Mining and Manufacturing Co. it was ordered that annual meeting of the stockholders of said company be held in the office of the company on Wednesday April 12th, 1883, at 12 o'clock.

Saturday afternoon the young men will debate before the Girls Chapter this question. Resolved.

That Science is of more value to civilization than Literature.

A pupil in the arithmetic class told the teacher that there were 10,000 pounds of coal in a half ton.

The young ladies of the Jacksonville High School have named their society for the Girls Chapter. We feel very much honored though this is not our first namesake.

A young man from Clay county will enter school week.

The annual debate of the Calhoun Literary society will be on the 20th of April this year.

THEY DISAGREE.

A Free for All Fight for the Federal Offices in Alabama.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The Alabama delegation, together with Senator Pugh, who presided, met at the residence of Representative Clarke tonight to consider the matter of federal patronage in that state. The senator and all the members, except Mr. Clarke, met at the capitol this morning and they adjourned to meet again tonight.

It was 8:30 o'clock when Senator

Pugh called the meeting to order.

Mr. Clarke, though very unwell, was present.

After a prolonged, but very amicable discussion, it was finally agreed to disagree. That is, the delegation declines to unite upon any man or set of men. Each congressman is privileged to file the claims of the applicants from his district and push them. It is a free-for-all fight and the devil takes the hindmost.

It is learned privately tonight that Senator Pugh will make certain recommendations, and in these he will have the active endorsement of four out of the eleven Alabama congressmen and senators.

In other words, five of the congressmen will try the thing on their own account. This opens up and makes inevitable a very warm fight for the federal offices in Alabama. It will all be perfectly friendly.

The five who flew the track are Messrs. Oates, Turnip, Stallings, Clarke and Wheeler.

Mr. Cleveland has been devoting some of his time recently to the Alabama situation. Colonel Oates was with the president for an hour today. Mr. Cleveland thinks some of the men who followed Koll in August, but voted for him in November, should be recognized in the appointments. He thinks conciliatory measures towards those people necessary to harmonize the factions and bring the state back to its old condition. The majority of the congressmen are not very much inclined in his direction. They do not look upon the Kollites as a dangerous element.

Respectfully,

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Alabama law makes it risky and dangerous for pugilists or poudlers to indulge in their business on her soil. The opinion of Attorney General Martin on this subject published in Sunday's Advertiser was very satisfactory reading to the people of this State. In Pittsburgh, Penn., a few days ago when Champion Jim Corbett attempted to register at Hotel Anderson, the principal hotel in Pittsburgh, he was told that he was not wanted as a guest. The hotel clerk said: "We don't want any pugilists at this house. They are a nuisance. The regular patrons are annoyed by them." The much admired Champion Jim was compelled to seek accommodations at a less pretentious house. Nearly every prize fight gotten up in this country has been with Northern men as the backers of the pugilists and most of those who witness the degrading sport were from Northern localities. All the States ought to have laws like those of Alabama on this subject.—Montgomery Advertiser.

How to Get Sober.

The reading world will remember Dr. Nelson, of Paris, the medical saint and martyr, who, with Archibishop Darboy and other pure and noble men, was dragged to death through the streets of the beautiful city. Some time before the tragedy I listened to a lecture delivered by him on "alcoholism," in which he told us that ammonia was the chemical enemy or antithesis of the gas in alcohol which intoxicates. One drop of aqua ammonia in half a tumbler of water after every alternate glass of cognac brandy will render the strong liquor innocuous.

Two drops in a half glass of water will make a drunken man sober. Five drops mixed the same way will sober a man dead drunk, after a few sneezes, in which carbon and nitrogen are expelled by the body.—Atlanta Journal.

As a means of raising much needed revenue, The Philadelphia Record advocates a duty of half a cent a pound on raw sugar, the same duty on refined sugar not to be taken off. "Refined sugar," it asserts "would cost consumers no more than it does now, but a considerable share of the profits of the Sugar Trust would flow into the Federal Treasury, instead of into the pockets of the holders of Trust certificates representing much more water than sugar." Under the McKinley law only the sugar needed by the Sugar Trust comes in free of duty. The refined sugar, which comes in competition with the Trust is taxed and kept out of the country to the extent that the Trust can supply the needs of the public at an advanced rate. But little revenue is derived from the tax on refined sugar.—Montgomery Advertiser.

In the spring of 1890 Mr. Robert C. Wilson, living near Calera, plowed up a box containing a sum of money. The administrator of the man who lived on the place at the close of the war sued for the money as the property of the decedent which he claimed was buried at the time of Wilson's raid through Alabama. The jury decided in favor of the plaintiff.

The Republican

J. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, APRIL 1, 1893.

The Democrats elected the mayor and a large majority of the city council of Chicago.

Returns from the elections throughout Kansas indicate a sweeping Republican victory.

The whole people of Alabama voted, even the nomination of Mr. Hannis Taylor, of Mobile, to be Minister to Spain.

Mr. Ben H. Kaiser, of the Roanoke Herald, is dead. He was a veteran newspaper man of Alabama. In his time he has controlled several influential papers. He was a sound Democrat and a good man.

The Democrats were victorious in the fourth Congressional District in Wisconsin. The election was to fill a vacancy. Judge Newman, Democrat, was elected Supreme Court Judge over Judge Webb, Republican.

The municipal election in Talladega resulted in the election of J. A. Edwards for Mayor, and J. R. Barrett, T. H. Clardy, T. S. Plowman, E. B. Wren, J. M. Jones, A. J. Nunnelly, R. Heins, and W. S. Skeggs for councilmen.

Senator Pearson, of Tuscaloosa, one of the Populist members of the Alabama Senate, died a few days ago, of inflammation of the liver. He was a good man, honest in his convictions and kind and courteous to all with whom he came in contact.

The heads of the various departments are weeding out the incompetent and useless clerks in great numbers. Twenty-nine clerks were dropped from the rolls in one day in the census office, and as many more from the pension office, and from the other departments in proportion.

The white teachers' Institute of Calhoun county met in Jacksonville Friday and are in session as the REPUBLICAN goes to press. Proceedings will be published next week, if the Secretary will be kind enough to furnish same to the press.

It begins to look as if the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company will soon undertake the manufacture of steel at Birmingham or Bessemer. Parties here own very valuable manganese mines which will then be worked. Now the freight to the Carnegie steel plants eats up the profits of manganese mining.

While the people are in the humor for ballot reform, it would be well enough to incidentally squelch the campaign liar. The man who will run for the Legislature on a pledge to secure the enactment of a law making it a penal offense to tell a lie on a candidate for office, would get a good support. There are no more despicable creatures than the campaign liars and they are much more deserving of prison stripes and a job in the coal mines than many who go there now for misdemeanors.

The East and West Railroad is soon to be sold. It is said that if the bondholders of the road buy it, the road will be at once extended to Anniston over the right of way of the Blue Mountain Mineral road. If the Louisville and Nashville buys it, the road will not be extended, that system having already one road into Anniston. But if the Louisville and Nashville buys it, Jacksonville will have the benefit of competitive rates by reason of the fact that she will then be touched by two great railroad systems. So, it would appear Jacksonville will be all right in either event.

The Coosa River News is disturbed because the act providing for the issue of bonds by Cherokee county to build a combination railroad and wagon bridge does not state the point at which the river shall be bridged, and suggests that the people get together and settle this point. That is impracticable, for the bridge will have to be put at the point where the railroad will cross the river, and that has not yet been determined by the survey. Better vote the bonds and leave the selection of the point of crossing to the railroad people. A quarrel over location will defeat the issue of bonds.

In the congressional Democratic primary election all men who supported the national Democratic ticket in November will be allowed to vote. This admits the men who voted for Collyer, but who voted for Cleveland and the Democratic Congressional nominee. This is the rule which will likely prevail in the State next year.

The case of Otto Wilson.

In a telegram printed in the Journal recently concerning the disposition of the case of S. Otto Wilson, the notorious Third Party political trickster of North Carolina, charged with being a member of Gideon's band, an unlawful political organization, the facts were so distorted as to make it appear that Wilson had come off victorious. The truth was just to the contrary, and the Journal takes pleasure in setting the matter right. The facts of the case are these:

Wilson was indicted on January 18th last, arrested and taken to Raleigh for trial. He was bound over to court under a $300 bond which he gave, and last Tuesday morning he appeared before Judge Brown at Raleigh.

Wilson's attorney stated to the court that, while the defendant protested his innocence, he was willing to enter the plea of not contest and to pay the costs, if that were agreeable to the state. This was in effect, an admission of guilt and a plea for mercy. The court could have sentenced and punished plaintiff under it, just as fully as if he had been convicted by a jury. The state's attorney consented to the entry of the plea, but laid stress on the fact that the state did not regard the offense lightly. Accordingly, Wilson escaped with the payment of $131 and costs.

The case of Wilson, who represents the worst type of the intriguing demagogue, ought to be, and doubtless will be, a warning to others of his stripe. It sets a precedent which may tend to repress secret political conspiracies in this section in the future.—Atlanta Journal.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Judges Taft and Ricks of the United States courts in Ohio, have recently made some very sweeping decisions as to the rights of employees.

The court held in effect that an employee cannot refuse to perform his duty nor quit the service in which he is employed in such a manner as to injure the employer or interfere with the rights of the public.

That may be the law, but it certainly does not look like justice. Has employees no rights?

It is a poor rule that does not work both ways.

If employees cannot quit work when to do so would injure their employer, then employers should not be permitted to discharge employees or cease their operations when to do so would injure their employees.

Corporations are entitled to strict justice and the fullest protection of their rights, but equally so are the men who work for them.

The rulings of Judges Taft and Ricks have provoked much comment, and we do not wonder at it.

If they have interpreted the law correctly, the wonder is that nobody ever found it out before.—Atlanta Journal.

Colored Teachers Institute.

Agreeable to call of the County Superintendent of Education, the colored teachers' Institute of Calhoun county met at Jacksonville and was in session March 31st and April 1st. The program was a most interesting one. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. J. Logan, and T. W. Allen was elected Secretary.

The following teachers were present: T. W. Allen, A. H. Harper, Addie Martin, Lizzie Hole, Laura Snow, Emma Garrett, Minnie Thompson, Jennett Barclay, L. Green, J. J. Borders, U. Hazman, P. D. King, Julia Stevens, N. G. Hackney and I. B. McCalpine.

Chairman Goodwin of the state executive committee of the Jeffersonian democracy, has called a meeting of the committee in Birmingham May 11th, to consider matters of importance bearing on the next campaign. This seems to indicate a purpose on the part of the Jeffersonians to keep alive the memory of the August campaign. There is no doubt that the leaders of that faction are desperately earnest, and unless the party is brought together before 1894, Alabama will witness one of the hottest campaigns ever known in this state.—Montgomery Journal.

THE FORTUNATE ONES.

Who Get the Plums as They Drop From the President's Hand.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4.—Mr. Cleve, who gives the diplomatic bush a hard slacking this morning, lists all many ministerships and consulships.

The following is the full list of nominations sent to the Senate by the president today:

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The president sent the following nominations to the Senate today:

Hanns Taylor of Alabama, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Spain.

William Lochren of Minnesota, to be commissioner of pensions.

A Ten Dollar Bill for Thurber.

When Private Secretary Thurber ran through his mail yesterday he found a letter that was different from all the rest. It contained a $10 bill.

"Of course I appreciate," said the writer, "that it is a good deal of trouble for you to look after my case, and so I hope you will accept the enclosed bill to pay you for filing my papers properly."

For a moment Mr. Thurber was downright angry. Then he laughed. He saw at once that the office-seeker did not intend an insult, but made the tender from a generous motive. The sconal was pretty tough on the office-seeker, however.

All of his papers have been sent back to him. This administration does not want that kind of a man.—Washington Post.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.

Wanted to Bribe Himself Into a Place and Got the Grand Bounce.

There are a few acts of the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury which all people will applaud. Secretary Carlisle was informed today that a certain superintendent of a public building in the West had offered to contribute $500 of his salary to the Democratic campaign fund on condition that it should be retained under the present administration.

The Secretary ordered his removal by telegraph, on the ground, as he explained, that a man who would give $500 a year for his position would not hesitate to recompence himself from contractors with whom he was doing business as a representative of the Government. This is the second man Mr. Carlisle has discharged for the same offense.—Cincinnati Tribune's Washington Special.

Chairman Goodwin of the state executive committee of the Jeffersonian democracy, has called a meeting of the committee in Birmingham May 11th, to consider matters of importance bearing on the next campaign. This seems to indicate a purpose on the part of the Jeffersonians to keep alive the memory of the August campaign. There is no doubt that the leaders of that faction are desperately earnest, and unless the party is brought together before 1894, Alabama will witness one of the hottest campaigns ever known in this state.—Montgomery Journal.

Several important subjects were discussed in a manner highly creditable to the teachers and the Institute, was complimented by the County Superintendent. The body adopted a resolution favoring the bill prepared by Prof. Abercrombie, and which was introduced by Hon. Lewis Morris, which required that civil government be taught in the public schools. The Institute passed a resolution of thanks to Prof. Miller and Prof. Dr. and to the people of Jacksonville.

In the City Court of Gadsden, Rev. C. K. Headerson of Woodlawn, sued the First Baptist Church for $23 for unpaid services, which he rendered while pastor of that church several years ago, and recovered judgment for the amount.

A negro named Charlie Ezelle, of Montgomery, found murdered his wife some days ago. He took her to the river bank near the city about midnight and beat her into insensibility and left her to die. Her body was found Sunday morning in the ditches of death. The murderer escaped.

Mr. Edwin Taylor, of Choctaw county, died very suddenly recently. He was at work in the field and had plowed up a lot of bones of a man who had been buried several years ago. He collected the bones together and had just risen to a standing position when he dropped dead.

County clerk Jones has been notified by the Supreme Court of Alabama of his arrest of judgment and execution in the case of Sheriff Green, colored who was to have been hung at Livingston next Friday, for the brutal murder of Major Marr colored eighteen months ago.

Three negroes, Green, Dent, Will Barrow and Will Finlay, were arrested in Lafayette Saturday charged with stealing cotton to the amount of about eleven bales. Several others are implicated whose names are withheld as they are not arrested. They are charged with stealing from the trains in the winter house and selling by the sack full and basket full.

Mr. Noah Robson, living near Jayville, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Conecuh county, reached the eighty-eighth mile stone of his earthly career Friday, and celebrated the event by calling around him a number of his children, grandchildren and friends to enjoy with him, and his good wife an excellent dinner.

QUALITY

Is the bone and sinew of every garment in our stock. And our trade is every day swelled the chores of praise that are due to the success of our achievement. The number of parcels already sent out the depth of our resources this season are evidence of that. WE MAKE THE CLOTHING WE SELL SEEM TO EVERYONE WITH CONFIDENCE. We do not make but we SELL. It is the Finest that Can be Made.

Cause is the parent of effect. We couldn't give you the service we entitle to, and depend on the trade for our supply, so we jumped into the breach ourselves, rolled up our sleeves and went to work on our own.

We put the best fabrics in the mills of the world, and the handiwork of Most Expert Artists, and kept a zealous watch over every step we could come out of such a combination but perfection. Make your known.

All we need is a hint of your desire, and we can parade before you a stock of Fall Suits and Overcoats that so far excels in quality and variety the vaults of others as to drown them into the plain country. Judge by facts, not fancies. Call at our establishment exclusively to our stock.

CLOTHING,

crowded to their utmost capacity, with the latest fashions of the season. Then bring this magnificent display in contrast with the meager assortments others are showing.

The resources of any three of them together, and we lead the field.

Tak our prices into account. The same enterprise that perfectly qualifies has curtailed the costs. We have brought both ends of the line together. The Highest Values and the Lowest Prices. In even our grades, from $10 to $40, in both Suits and Overcoats, you may rest assured that you are getting the best.

Calls are being made for the heavier overgarments. Ours are adjusted on the same chord of consistent perfection, what a wealth of style is awaiting your inspection.

WAVES OF FIRE.

Nebraska Gale Swept From Line to Line.

WORK OF FLAME BILLOWS.

Villages Destroyed—Inhabitants Flee for Their Lives—Green Prairies Left Naked.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., April 8.—A disastrous prairie fire broke out south of Sutherland, in this county, yesterday. The loss will probably reach $100,000. It is claimed the fire was started by a passing engine. Never has such a disastrous prairie fire devastated the Platte valley. Everything for a distance of twenty-five miles is in ruins and the width reaches from three to four miles. Everything, corrals, barns, fences, hay stacks, is in ashes.

AINSWORTH, Neb., April 8.—The most fearful fire that has been witnessed in this country for many years passed over nearly all of the country from three to four miles north of this city to Niobrara river, a distance of fifteen miles, yesterday destroying much property and imperiling life. The wind blew a gale. Parties coming through the burned district say the fury of the fire could not be described. It swept over the prairie at the rate of forty miles an hour.

OMAHA, April 8.—The gale which swept over Nebraska yesterday bore before it great billows of flames which swept from thousands of fertile acres every vestige of vegetation. The limits of the fire which has raged during the last ten days have become almost state-wide and destruction that was thought might be small has become enormous. It is too soon to get any idea of how much the exact damage is, for the places most affected are remote from telegraph lines.

It is known, though, that much grain and hay in store, together with many barns and other out buildings, miles of fences, dozens of dwellings and many bridges have been licked up. Whether any lives have been lost is not reported, though it seems almost beyond doubt that some settlers, who are located away from easy assistance, must have perished.

In Banner county the village of Ashmore is supposed to have been completely destroyed. Werd was brought to Harrisburg last night by the driver of the stage that the town was directly in the path of the fire at 4 o'clock and that the entire population of the village was engaged in a battle to save their homes. The stage driver reported having seen several dwelling houses in flames and settlers fleeing for their lives. He crossed the line of the fire and received a severe scorching, although he is not seriously burned.

Meagre details from Ogallia, Harrisburg, Dunning, Inverton, Kearney, Grand Island, Lexington and Hastings give accounts of great loss to property. The Burlington railroad bridge at Dunning and another at Hastings on the Elk Horn were destroyed, delaying trains somewhat.

At Kearney the fire burned enough of the town to destroy the brewery, located just at the edge. At Dunning, an old lady named Bartlett was burned so badly she may die. The gale subsided by nightfall, but the fires have scarcely abated, and in threatened sections the inhabitants have spent long hours combating the fire. The ground burned over is the chief grazing section of the state, and the destruction of the grass means a great loss to stock men in this respect, as they will be compelled to seek new pastures. Their feed in store being destroyed and their stock stampeded by the fire, it will take them many weeks to figure up what the loss really is.

Our New Election Law.

Our new election law here in Alabama has now been tried in more than a dozen cities, and everywhere it has worked smoothly and we have heard no complaints of dishonesty under its operations. The Tuscaloosa Alabamian describes its work in that city as follows:

No more "pulls" with the voter. The new election law has put a quietus on all such, and it is a real pleasure to vote under the new law. It effectively does away with all wire-pulling, log-rolling and button-holing among the voters at the polls, and is a gentle, respectable method of voting. It worked like a charm here last Monday, and everybody was well pleased with it. We have heard but little opposition to it, and none from the good citizen who desires fair elections conducted respectfully and intelligently.

What The War Cost.

Mr. Edward Atkinson, one of the leading staticians of this country, has been figuring on the cost of the war, and he puts it this way:

Pensions to June 30, '92,
as stated by Representative O'Neill.....$150,000,000 Pension rolls and trust payments June 30 '92, to Dec 31 '94 about.....250,000,000

$1,800,000,000
Names on roll Dec 31
'94 about 1,275,000.
If all were soldiers of 25 to 26 at time of enlistment, they would then average 60. On that basis by life tables we should have to pay about.....2,000,000,000

$3,800,000,000
Expenditures for war purposes, 7 years of war and reconstruction.....4,000,000,000

Probable cost of war in money to the south, 2,200,000,000

$10,000,000,000
Interest in all about.....2,000,000,000

Total cost, not including pensions after Dec
31 '94 about.....$12,000,000,000

It is estimated that about $4,000,000 more will be required to clear up the pension rolls. This would make the total cost of the war about sixteen billion dollars.

It is utterly impossible to comprehend any sum, but the figures show that ours was the most expensive the world has ever seen.

But see how the country has sustained this enormous expenditure and gone steadily onward in wealth

as well as in population.

The increase in wealth has been far greater than the growth of our population. While our population now is about twice what it was in 1860, the realized wealth of the country is at least four times as great as in population.

In Banner county the village of Ashmore is supposed to have been completely destroyed. Werd was brought to Harrisburg last night by the driver of the stage that the town was directly in the path of the fire at 4 o'clock and that the entire population of the village was engaged in a battle to save their homes. The stage driver reported having seen several dwelling houses in flames and settlers fleeing for their lives. He crossed the line of the fire and received a severe scorching, although he is not seriously burned.

loss to property. The Burlington railroad bridge at Dunning and ly abated, and in threatened sections the inhabitants have spent

Will Keep His Job.

Washington, April 8.—Jerome Herff, of Peru, Ind., applied in person to President Cleveland for appointment as Consul General at Havanna. He says the President informed him that the present Consul General at that point will be retained.

Frank C. Armstrong, of Washington, D. C., to be assistant commissioner of Indian affairs.

HIS OWN SISTER.

A Brother Discovers Her in His Beloved Wife.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., April 8.—A romance of unusually unfortunate and pathetic detail was discovered when two detectives from Toronto, Canada, discovered in Mr. and Mrs. Asa Barr the relationship of brother and sister and the heirs to a fortune.

Twenty-five years ago two waifs, brother and sister, were abandoned by German immigrants at Castle Garden. They were legally adopted—one by a man named Evans, the other by a Mrs. Barr. The latter moved soon afterward to Philadelphia, where she brought up her adopted daughter, giving her a good education. Twenty years later, the boy, grown to manhood, moved also to Philadelphia, where he followed the trade of a painter.

Chance threw the brother and sister together. Barr was captivated with the girl, and wooed, won and married her. During the late strike they moved to Homestead. The adopted daughter of Mrs. Evans recently became an heir to considerable property in Canada. Investigation discovered the true relationship of Mr. and Mrs. Barr to be that of brother and sister. The couple will leave for London, Canada, to claim the fortune.

The Huntsville Mercury thinks the new election law is a "first-class one to make an election law of," and suggests the next legislature will remedy its defects, whatever they are. There seems to be a growing belief that the law is a good one, but as it is yet untried in the black belt, it is best to await results before passing judgment on it. The Jeffersonians have announced their intention to make war on the law, inasmuch as it has a tendency to disfranchise many illiterate white voters. To what extent, it will do this however, remains to be seen.—Montgomery Journal.

THE FORTUNATE ONES.

Who Get the Plums as They Drop From the President's Hand.

Washington, April 7.—The president today sent to the Senate the following nominations:

Caleb W. West of Utah, to be Governor of Utah.

Dominick L. Murphy of Washington, to be First Deputy Commissioner of Pensions.

Governor West was former Governor under Cleveland.

Washington, April 7.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate today:

James B. Eustis of Louisiana, to be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to France.

August Belmont & Co. to be special fiscal agents of the navy department at London, Eng., vice Seligman Bros.

The nomination of Eustis, who had already been confirmed as minister to France, is simply to raise the grade of the mission to meet the corresponding change made by the French government in the case of its representation at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 11th.—Today's nominations sent to the Senate by the president were as follows:

Edward H. Strobel, of New York, to be third assistant secretary of the interior; vice William M.
Grimell, resigned.

Daniel N. Morgan, of Connecticut, to be treasurer of the United States; vice Enos H. Nebecker, resigned.

Conrad N. Jordan, of New York, to be assistant treasurer of the United States at New York city, vice Ellis H. Roberts, resigned.

Daniel M. Browning, of Illinois, to be commissioner of Indian affairs.

Frank C. Armstrong, of Washington, D. C., to be assistant commissioner of Indian affairs.

HANNIS TAYLOR.

Sketch of the Life of the Alabamian Recently Appointed Minister to Spain.

Taylor is a lawyer, living at Mobile, and his reputation is of the first water, one of his arguments made before the supreme court, in opposition to the constitutionality of the anti-lottery law, being in evidence on that point. But first of all, Taylor is a scholar of high attainments and his contributions to historical literature have made him well known to literary men, although he is comparatively a young man, being in his 41st year. His life work is the "Origin and Growth of the English Constitution." But one volume of this work has been published as yet, but it has already been adopted as a text book in seven universities. It is Taylor's desire to conclude the history during his stay in Spain.

He was strongly recommended to Secretary Blaine by Senator Morgan as one of the arbitrators or counsel in the Belvoir sea-arbitration, and was also strongly endorsed by Phelps and some of the leading lawyers of New York.

MONROE, April 6.—Hannis Taylor was born in New Bern, N. C.,

September 12, 1851. He is the eldest son of Richard Taylor and Susan Stevenson. Just as his education had fairly begun the war began between the states broke out and his father was forced to move to Chapel Hill, the seat of the University of North Carolina, and there he finished his education in 1865.

Returning to New Bern for a short time, Mr. Taylor read law, but in 1869 moved to Mobile, and in September of that year Mr. Taylor was admitted to the bar of Mobile, being then in his 19th year. Before he was of age he was admitted to practice before the state supreme court. Shortly after his admission to the bar Mr. Taylor entered upon the task of writing the history of the "Origin and Growth of the English Constitution," a work upon which he has ever since been engaged.

About fifteen years after the preparation of this work began simultaneously in Boston and in London.

The almost instant recognition which the book received both in this country and in Europe established his reputation and eventually secured the promotion which he today received at the hands of the president. Mr. Taylor's work has been adopted either as a text book or as a book of reference in many of the leading American universities, with Harvard at the head of the list. A great northern review said that "Mr. Taylor's work is the greatest which any southerner has produced since Maury's Physical

Geography of the Sea."

In a recent article by the Earl of Meath, in the Fortnightly Review, upon

The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, APRIL 18, 1863.

Thursday the President nominated Alex W. Terrell, of Texas, to be minister to Turkey.

The editors of the Southern afternoon newspapers called on Mr. Cleveland in a body Tuesday and were cordially received.

The Anniston Military have abandoned the idea of marching to Chicago. In fact the whole idea of an encampment of the Alabama troops at the Chicago Exposition has been abandoned.

The building of a creditable alm's house for the county at or near Jacksonville, was a favorite idea of Mr. Sam'l' Noble before Anniston was thrown open to the public. He advocated it with great warmth.

Gov. Jones attended the convention of Southern Governors at Richmond. They met to consider matters of interest to the South. All the Southern States were represented except Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas.

The Anniston newspapers report that Commissioner Jake T. Dearman and his son Cleff are improving. Both have been desperately ill with pneumonia. This information that they will recover will be gratifying news to the friends of both throughout the county.

The iron furnace in Piedmont is to be completed at once and the bent wood works and shoe factory put into operation. This is good news for Calhoun. Let the wheel of progress roll. Plucky Piedmont, may your population increase ten fold!

The dispatches bring terrible accounts of a cyclone which visited some of the Western and Southern States a few days ago. Many towns were completely wiped out and the loss of life was great. In the West many were saved by taking refuge in cyclone pits. Mississippi suffered more than any other Southern State.

Most of the objections one bears to the new election law is really objections to human nature. If we start out with the presumption that election managers are going to perjure themselves and take the risk of the penitentiary in the commission of fraud, then no law the legislature could pass would insure fair elections.

Anniston is rejoicing over the fact that the Hercules Foundry Company will move its plant from Pell City to Anniston. The company manufacture iron piping and is a large concern. We congratulate our enterprising neighbor on the acquisition. All the signs point to a great industrial revival in Anniston.

Connected with the ice plant here is a cold storage room in which can be kept meats, fruits, fish and all perishable matter to an indefinite time. It was the purpose when the ice plant was built to make this a distributing point for the articles mentioned above, and these cold storage rooms were built at considerable cost. Would it not pay to utilize them? Now we have to buy Kansas City beef from Chattanooga.

County Asylum.

The Court of County Commissioners let the contract Tuesday to Kimbrell & Co., of Rome, for the building of the County asylum for the indigent and infirm at Jacksonville, that firm being the lowest bidder by one thousand dollars under the lowest of several bids made. The building will be of brick and buildings and grounds will cost something near ten thousand dollars. The bid of Messrs. Kimbrell & Co., was within a few dollars of seven thousand dollars.

Work will begin at once and the building will be completed this summer. Calhoun county will in future care of her poor and unfortunate ones in a manner befitting the wealth and importance of the county.

A chance of a lifetime to buy books at prices like Eros at Crook's Drug Store for almost no price.

State Sunday School Convention.

The State Sunday School Association will meet at Opelika, April 25th and continue in session three days. The Calhoun county Association has appointed the following well-known Sunday school workers to attend the State Association:

Prof. Geo. W. Bonner, Iron City, Mr. S. G. Armentrout, Oxford; Miss Annie Peace, Peterburg; Mrs. Miles Mathis, Messrs. M. A. Smith, W. S. Wilson, J. Finch, O. Connel, W. H. Williams, Miss Minnie Allen; Judge B. F. Cassidy, Anniston; Mr. S. A. Russell, Oxanna; Mr. E. M. Reid, Morrisville; Mr. John Hall, Jacksonville; Mr. R. H. Martin, Eufaula.

The editors of the Southern afternoon newspapers called on Mr. Cleveland in a body Tuesday and were cordially received.

The Anniston Military have abandoned the idea of marching to Chicago. In fact the whole idea of an encampment of the Alabama troops at the Chicago Exposition has been abandoned.

The building of a creditable alm's house for the county at or near Jacksonville, was a favorite idea of Mr. Sam'l' Noble before Anniston was thrown open to the public. He advocated it with great warmth.

Gov. Jones attended the convention of Southern Governors at Richmond. They met to consider matters of interest to the South. All the Southern States were represented except Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas.

The Anniston newspapers report that Commissioner Jake T. Dearman and his son Cleff are improving. Both have been desperately ill with pneumonia. This information that they will recover will be gratifying news to the friends of both throughout the county.

The iron furnace in Piedmont is to be completed at once and the bent wood works and shoe factory put into operation. This is good news for Calhoun. Let the wheel of progress roll. Plucky Piedmont, may your population increase ten fold!

The dispatches bring terrible accounts of a cyclone which visited some of the Western and Southern States a few days ago. Many towns were completely wiped out and the loss of life was great. In the West many were saved by taking refuge in cyclone pits. Mississippi suffered more than any other Southern State.

Most of the objections one bears to the new election law is really objections to human nature. If we start out with the presumption that election managers are going to perjure themselves and take the risk of the penitentiary in the commission of fraud, then no law the legislature could pass would insure fair elections.

Anniston is rejoicing over the fact that the Hercules Foundry Company will move its plant from Pell City to Anniston. The company manufacture iron piping and is a large concern. We congratulate our enterprising neighbor on the acquisition. All the signs point to a great industrial revival in Anniston.

Connected with the ice plant here is a cold storage room in which can be kept meats, fruits, fish and all perishable matter to an indefinite time. It was the purpose when the ice plant was built to make this a distributing point for the articles mentioned above, and these cold storage rooms were built at considerable cost. Would it not pay to utilize them? Now we have to buy Kansas City beef from Chattanooga.

Pratt City has the peculiar practice of reducing her police force in the summer, one policeman has been laid off.

Dr. Andrews, who was recently strucken with paralysis at Greensboro, is improving.

Alta has organized a co-operative loan and manufacturing association, with a capital stock of $50,000.

Jim Morrison, the Greensboro outlaw was wounded by a fifteen year old boy and afterwards captured.

Montgomery beat Birmingham at base ball yesterday.

Chas. A. Wood, a former merchant in Birmingham, died in Seina, yesterday.

The Baptists of Gadsden have sold their church lot for $5,500 and will at once erect a handsome church to cost $12,000.

A noted event in social circles in Montgomery was the marriage on Tuesday night at the St. John's church of Roland Hill Overton and Mary Sayre Allen.

Jim Morrison, a notorious negro desperado and escaped convict from Pratt Mines, was captured in Hale county Tuesday after being severely wounded and is now in jail. The gallows is the place for him to spend his last moments.

I am from Anniston, must have money, hence sell you the Books I have at Crook's Drug Store for almost no price.

Then the beloved mater roused herself and sent the answer resounding over "college hill." Girls were running to and fro, upsetting chairs and climbing on top of desks. One girl had the courage to try to save her terror-stricken sisters, but when she saw that the gallant young man had come to her rescue, she took wings and fled also whispering: "Alb I was I ere I saw Elba(rt)." The scene lasted no longer than the gentleman could catch the half frightened mouse, for a mouse it was, and hurl its soul into eternity.

ESTABLISHED 1837

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA. SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1893.

VOLUME 57

RULE OF DIVISION.

Agreement of Some Kind
said to Have Been Made.

TO ALABAMA'S PATRONAGE.

Each Member of the Delegation is to Get, and Those Who Will Get the Offices.
Other Notes of Interest.

WASHINGTON April 17.—Since the making of a state was abandoned by the Alabama delegation it is expected the quiet efforts have been going on to get up a sort of agreement as to who shall be recommended to the President for the Alabama offices. This is not to be a state, but a sort of understanding by which each member of the delegation is allotted a slice of pie, who in turn is to dish it out to whom he prefers—the other members, meanwhile, not to grab at each others slices. According to this program the slices and their destinations are as follows:

Mr. Clarke, of the 1st District, the Marshal of the Southern District which is said to be destined for Mr. Robt. Morrisette of Monroe.

Mr. Stallings of the Second, the Attorneyship of the Southern district; which is said to be for Mr. Miller of Wilcox.

Mr. Oates of the Third, the Collectorship of the Port of Mobile, with which no one's name is connected.

To Mr. Robbins of the Fourth, one of the Land Offices, for which also no one is mentioned as settled.

To Mr. Cobb of the Fifth, one of the land offices to which Mr. Hunter of Lowndes, is said to be assigned.

To Mr. Bankhead of the Sixth the marshalship of the Northern district to be turned over to his friend of chief concern, Mr. Musgrove, of Walker.

To Mr. Denson of the Seventh the Internal Revenue Collectorship, for which he is said to surrender all things else in the interest of Mr. Randall of Gadsden.

Gen. Wheeler of the Eighth the Attorneyship of the Northern district for Mr. O'Neil of Lauderdale.

To Mr. Turpin of the Ninth, two land offices, one at Huntsville for Mr. Ellis of Blount, and the other at Montgomery for Mr. Avery, of Hale.

To Senator Morgan the Marshalship of the middle district for his townsmen Capt. Tisdale.

To Senator Pugh the Attorneyship of the middle district for his nephew Mr. Clayton.

Of course, all this is rumor; it may not be true, it may not work out, but there is a good deal of it in the air, and it is very likely there is some foundation in fact as to the movement.

It is understood that the status of matters as to the judicial offices in the Northern and Middle Districts of Alabama is that there is no vacancy in the places of District Attorney or Marshal. The District Attorney of the Northern District performs the duties of the District Attorney of the middle district, and his commission reads for both Districts and so the Marshal of the Southern District performs the duties of the Marshal of the Middle District and he is also commissioned for both Districts. No new district has been created and the offices of District Attorney and Marshal of the Middle District have always existed and hence is the new law creating a District Attorney and Marshal for the middle district did not create the offices, the incumbents will exercise the duties of the offices in both District until appointments are made by the President which will most likely not occur before the beginning of the fiscal year, or July 1st.

Talks About the Crops and Again Invites the Normal School to Picnic at Oxford Lake.

OXFORD, ALA., April 20.

I had a sight cross down here last Sunday morning, no damage done. Glad of it for Mrs. Slim's garden is looking splendid, and strawberries in abundance nearly ready to begin to ripen. Understand it is Mrs. Slim's garden and I do the work and she boards me. I'm content, but, I guess she thinks sometimes that I'm like Joe's mother—“hairy.”

The farmers in this vicinity have certainly got a move on them. Corn on up land is nearly all planted and up, much of the cotton crop, and its no falling off from last year, notwithstanding 5 cents a pound is staring the country in the face is planted and some fields so well up that you can see it from one end of the row to the other. The guano supply is exhausted—not a sack to be found in Oxford, Oxanna, or Anniston, although some of our merchants, a short time since, were looking not very smilingly on some other merchants because they thought the other fellow was trespassing on their guano trade, and that they might have to carry some stock over.

Say you Normal school students, call on Professor Jarratt and induce him to leave the place of holding your annual picnic to a vote. Then vote early and often for Oxford Lake. Then act mighty clever at home, be ready for breakfast, do what your parents direct, cheerfully. Return promptly from school in the evening and see if there is anything you can do about home that will assist papa or mama. In fact make yourselves useful as well as ornamental. Occasionally mention the picnic, incidentally, and ask your parents to be sure and go with you. Don't let on like your parents will make the least objection. And if they can't possibly accompany you, tell them that I promise to chaperone every tot, or big tot either, who has no daddy or mammy or other protector along. O, I forgot to tell you; we've got a merry-go-round out there, and lots of fishing poles with lines and hooks already on them, and you can catch grasshoppers for bait. Now won't that be nice? I think, if you will follow my advice you will have no difficulty in gaining your parents' consent. For let me tell you, there is nothing that can bring old folks around like dutiful, accommodating, industrious and well behaved children.

THE ALABAMA OFFICES.

CONGRESSMAN OATES
TALKS ABOUT THE MATTER.

A Long Time Before the Pie Will be Handed Around.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Your correspondent called on Col. Oates and propounded to him a few questions, and the answers he gave will be interesting reading to the people of Alabama. The first question was:

Colonel, is there any truth in the report we hear that President Cleveland intends to recognize Capt. Kolb and his supporters in Alabama by tendering to some of them important appointments?

He said: “I do not believe there is a particle of truth in the report. Mr. Cleveland has no idea of offering any appointment to Kolb or any of his supporters who are still adhering to and following him. He has said that he would appoint to office, if a good man and properly recommended, any of those who have supported Kolb, abandoned him and returned to the Democracy and voted the regular Democratic ticket last November. We all decided in Alabama that those who voted for Kolb in August but came back to the party and voted for the Democratic nominees in November should be treated and regarded as Democrats, and allowed to participate in the primaries hereafter. Mr. Cleveland is aware of that fact and this is as far as his recognition will extend.”

Colonel, do you know what the President's policy will be in respect to those who were appointed and are now holding office under the Harrison administration?

“Yes, sir, I do know, because I have asked him and had it directly from him that he will allow them to hold out the term for which they were commissioned, unless for some mal-administration they render themselves removable for cause. Consequently the District Attorneys and Marshals, Revenue Collector, Collector of the Port of Mobile, Register and Receiver of Land Offices, will continue in office for about one year, their terms expiring in February and March, 1894.”

“Will the same course be pursued with reference to postmasters?”

“It will, except where they are removable for cause. If they are guilty of very offensive partisanship, that may be considered cause, but it is not considered offensive partisanship to advocate the doctrines of their party or to urge the acceptance of its doctrines, but will consist in corruptly or improperly using the offices for political or partisan purposes. It is the intention of Mr. Maxwell, the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, even in the case of fourth class postmasters, to allow them, where they are making efficient officers, to hold their offices for about four years, although they have no term whatever. This latter, Mr. Maxwell told me yesterday, is largely for the convenience of his bureau, which even under this regulation has more work than can be properly accomplished with the force at his command. But the work of change will continue to go on among the postmasters until these offices in the course of a year or two are all in charge of Simon-pure Democrats. Neither Mr. Cleveland nor any of his assistants in this administration up to date have appointed any Republicans, except in the singular case of Judge Gresham, and the truth is that he is now as good a Democrat as any in the Cabinet, and they are generally conceded all to be good ones. He is not only a very able man, but a polite and courteous gentleman.”

HEI SUFFERINGS OVER.—Mrs. Robert Treadaway, who has been slowly but steadily sinking for weeks past, died this forenoon at 10 o'clock at her home three miles north of the city, on the Jacksonville road. The funeral will take place to-morrow forenoon at 10 o'clock at Four Mile church. Mrs. Treadaway was a noble Christian woman and her early death will be deplored by a very wide circle of devoted friends.—Anniston News.

This is from the Mercury, of course: “Huntsville is getting suddenly in need of a stake-up. Let me assume the cards and make a new deal before the sun becomes ever-vating.”

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

DIVISION OF ENTOMOLOGY.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

April 10th 1893.

Hon. Wm. H. Forney,
Jacksonville, Ala.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of April 6th addressed to the Secretary of Agriculture has been referred to this office for reply. The insect which you send is the common Colorado Potato Beetle (Doryphora decimlineata) which has done so much damage in northern States during the past 20 years. The southern range of this insect has been very slowly though gradually extended. Its occurrence in injurious numbers has once or twice been previously reported from the northern part of your state but it has died out almost immediately and must now have been newly imported from some northern locality. The specimens which you send are healthy and it is quite probable that considerable damage will result from the appearance unless energetic measures are taken to destroy it. The very best remedy consists in the application of Paris green either mixed with water in the proportion of one fourth pound of the poison to 40 gallons, or with lead plaster or spoiled flour in the proportion of one part of the poison to 15 parts of the other ingredient. I shall be glad to receive information as to the amount of damage done and as to the extent of the country infested.

Yours respectfully,
C. V. Riley,
Entomologist.

WARNING OF THE PRESENCE OF THE DESTRUCTIVE COLORADO POTATO BEETLE.

To The Age-Herald.

MONTGOMERY, April 10.—This morning Commissioner H. D. Lane received from Jacksonville, Ala., a sedlitz box full of Colorado beetles. This is an insect which is to be dreaded, and the people should understand this fact, so as to be prepared for saving their Irish potatoes and tomatoes from being destroyed. We write this paragraph for the Age-Herald to forewarn the farmers and truck growers against the depredations of this ravenous insect.

The beetles received at Montgomery from Calhoun county passed the winter under the ground, and are mature and ready to propagate their species. One of the females will deposit 200 small yellow eggs on the under part of the leaf of a potato, which will in seven days hatch a peculiar little red-meated insect which at once commences feeding upon the potato leaves. There will be three generations of the beetles in one season. One female will have 300,000 great-grandchildren this year. Your readers can make their preparations for fighting this beetle.

The remedy is simple and can be applied by any intelligent farmer without any risk. Take one pound of paris green and mix thoroughly with ten pounds of cheap flour and sprinkle from a piece of mosquito netting or some tin vessel with small holes in the bottom. One such application will destroy all the larva, but not the eggs. The application will have to be repeated in fifteen days to destroy the next generation which will have come from the unhatched eggs at the time of the first application.

There will be no danger of poison to persons if the paris green be used as directed. All the potato growers are advised to be on the lookout for the Colorado beetle and use the paris green and flour promptly.

Yours,
THOMAS J. KEY.

Hotspur postoffice, Shelby county, has been discontinued, and the people in that vicinity will get their mail at Vincent.

GREAT SENSATION.

A SECRET WHICH HAD BEEN SAFELY KEPT FOR MANY YEARS.

Written Confession of a Prominent Tennessee Physician Acknowledging Having Murdered a Minister at Clarksville.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., April 8.—

There has been found among the private papers of the late Dr. Francois Fountenay the written confession of a crime which occurred twenty-eight years ago, and of which Dr. Fountenay was never suspected.

Rev. A. M. Feltner, a rector of the Episcopal church, disappeared mysteriously in 1863, and diligent search by his friends, aided by detectives, failed to furnish any clue as to what had become of him. His wife had just died, but beyond that no cause for melancholy was known and nothing could be learned to indicate any motive for going away mysteriously. The document is a confession by Dr. Fountenay that he murdered Feltner. The confession goes into detail.

Dr. Fountenay was Mrs. Feltner's physician and greatly interested in the case because of some peculiar features that appealed to his professional zeal. When Dr. Fountenay yielded to the temptation to steal the body for an autopsy, he had it removed from the grave and was preparing to refill it when he received a stunning blow from behind. Wheeling he found himself face to face with Feltner, the latter maddened by the desecration of his wife's grave. The rector again attacked him, and to defend himself, knowing that protests would be useless, the doctor seized a shovel and struck his assailant on the head hoping to stun him and escape. The blow crushed the temple bone causing instant death. The horrified murderer placed the body in the empty coffin and refilled the grave. Rain washed away all traces of the work and the strange disappearance was soon almost forgotten.

Dr. Fountenay completed his autopsy with great advantage to science. He adopted his victim's two children, both of whom are living. The daughter married a state official. The son is in the government service. Dr. Fountenay was a wealthy bachelor and left them his fortune.

Mrs. Feltner's body was found where the confession said it had been buried in the cellar, and reinterred beside that of her husband.

“There is some unusual stir in the Jeffersonian democracy. The occasion of the excitement is unknown. Perhaps the Alliance Herald will explain.” Of course the Alliance Herald will be able to explain it to the satisfaction of the Mercury, but will it? It may conclude that it is unnecessary or that it would be unwise to let the cat out of the wallet now. But it may as well do so. There is a rumor and one pretty well authenticated that Mr. Cleveland has “saint” word that he proposed to recognize them in the distribution of Alabama pie. If this is true, they are probably hustling around endeavoring to see who shall get the biggest slice.—Montgomery Journal.

The Guntersville Democrat says: “Willie Slaton brought specimens of galena ore to town Tuesday, taken from lead eight miles east of Guntersville, from a vein which he says is eight inches thick. He proposes to investigate further. A gentleman here offered Mr. Slaton ten dollars for a bushel of such samples as were shown.”

A movement is on foot to have the town of Elba incorporated.

SCHENCK'S SPRING.

Mr. Will Dickie, a son of Wat Dickie, is living low with consumption.

Mr. Ray, who contracted to build so many houses here is getting along very well. He has already got up seven.

Mr. John Heathcock has moved his saw mill here, got his yard full of logs and has commenced sawing.

The young folk of this vicinity have a literary club which meets somewhere in the neighborhood one night each week, with Miss Nola Pierce, as President.

The farmers are busy plowing, they work as though they intend to make a desperate effort for a big crop.

Now Mr. Editor, I would like to know what has become of all the local writers of ten years ago. I would like to hear who of them died in the recent political campaign.

But maybe the most of them are in Washington trying to get an appointment under Cleveland. But I don't think they can beat Grover bad from the fact he knows there are more applicants than he got votes.

BILL ARP, JR.

IOWA'S ICE CAVE.

One of the greatest curiosities in the Mississippi valley is a natural ice cave which is located in the bluffs of the Iowa river within less than a mile of Decorah, the county seat of Winneshiek county. This unique curiosity is indeed a natural icehouse—a cavern in which great icicles may be found at any season of the year, being especially fine in summer when the weather is hot and dry outside. The bluff in which the cave is located is between 240 and 400 feet in height, it being necessary to climb about 75 feet up the side of the bluff to reach the mouth of the cave. The entrance is a fissure about 10 feet in width and between 15 and 20 feet in height from which a constant current of cold air issues.

Thirty feet from the mouth of the cave the passage turns toward the left and downward, toward the river bed. The slope is very gradual, however, and the walls and the roof are within easy reach all the while. After you have reached a spot 100 feet from the opening you entered, it is noticed that the walls and roof are covered with frost. Twenty feet farther a thin coating of ice is noticed, which increases in thickness as you go into the bluff.—St. Louis Republic.

Col. Rufus N. Rhodes of the Birmingham News has been very near the president recently. In fact he has been closeted with him on more than one occasion. He is now at home, and this is what his paper says editorially yesterday:

“In making appointments for Alabama President Cleveland will recognize every faction of the democracy and as far as possible harmonize the party. The democrat, who voted for Kolb in August and in November for Cleveland at the same time, will be recognized, if he applies, from the administration in Washington. And it's right.”

The Journal would call the special attention of the Jeffersonians to the utterance of one in a position to speak. But it would advise them all not to start to Washington at once.—Montgomery Journal.

A remarkable freak of nature occurred on Thursday at the Parish farm near Florence. The phenomenon is an immense hole fifty feet across the top and of indeterminate depth. The hole was found by Mr. T. W. Redding, who leases the farm. It is located in a field that has been in cultivation for years and at a place where the earth was apparently solid. The sinking occurred in the night during a heavy storm. It is thought that the hole leads to a vast subterranean cavern, and it will be explored.

Bill Smith, a festive young man, was arrested in Gadsden on Friday for stealing a horse in Talladega, from S. L. Wilson. He traded the horse to a man in Anniston, traded at Alexandria and traded his last horse in this city when he was arrested. He was taken back to Talladega Saturday.

The Gadsden Times, issued semi-weekly, is issued semi-weekly.

TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

ROOMS IN ADVANCE.

The East Tennessee will secure Hotel Accommodations for World's Fairers.

From Atlanta Constitution, March 24, 1893.

Colonel B. W. Wrenn has sprung another idea in railroading. He is going to have things so arranged that when a traveler going to the World's Fair buys a ticket of an East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia coupon agent, he can engage a room in a hotel at Chicago at the same time and without any extra charge.

The Lelands have leased The Ingram, a large new hotel on Sixteenth street, opposite one of the entrances to the fair grounds, containing over 1,000 rooms, and Colonel Wrenn has arranged with them to let his agents have a certain number of rooms for the use of the patrons of the East Tennessee.

So no matter how great a rush there may be it will be possible for a patron to be sure of a room before starting. For example, the city agent here will have a diagram of the hotel and the rooms placed at his disposal. Every day the agent will learn by telegraph about their rooms, so that there will be no confusion, and when the passenger arrives at the hotel he will have a room awaiting him. His baggage will be checked direct there and he will have no trouble. He will pay 20 per cent. of the price of the room when he engages it, but if he does not

THE FAMOUS.

We've Spread Ourselves.

No harm to look. It will pay you to. You might know that a house with the reputation at stake is not going to tell fairy stories in the papers. We want you to see our $15, $18 and $20 suits; because we are confident they will please you.

They certainly ought to. We've put our time and talent and goodness enough in them. We know that $15 and $18 doesn't sound very much, especially if you've been fooling with tailors prices. If what they charge $30 or $35 for will suit, our $15 and $18 grades are sure to be something of a saying, ain't it? You are not tied down to any style. You have more of a variety here than in a half dozen other stores. The cut of the garment is the latest SINGLE and DOUBLE BREASTED SACK SUITS and THREE and FOUR BUTTON CUTAWAY FROCKS.

By the way, have you thought about a business suit for the spring?

What's the matter with a Double breasted Sack?

There are going to be lots of them worn, and there are scores of neat effects among our stock, some light, some dark, of course betwixt and between shades.
There is lots of style about them; lots of comfort and satisfaction in them.

You see your spring suit and underwear will cost you less than the suit alone from a tailor.

Are you going to wear eglise shirts this summer?
See our styles and prices. They will interest you.

Don't you think it is about time to get a spring Hat?

SPOOLS FOR DIXIE.

NINE OUT OF FIFTEEN FOREIGN MISSIONS—FOUR CONSULS GENERAL.

Twelve Principal Bureau Officials and Three Cabinet Members Awarded to the Southern States.

A Washington dispatch to the Rocky Mountain News says: "The south is being treated right well by this administration." "I don't see that we have any reason to complain," is the remark made by Congressmen Catchings, of Mississippi, this morning at the white house. He then proceeded to enumerate some of the good things which have thus early in the engagement been captured by the south. His enumeration of these things also incidentally disclosed how President Cleveland has had the geographical distribution of the federal patronage in mind in making his appointments.

TITLE DIVISION.

So far only fifteen of the forty diplomatic missions under the state department have been filled, and of these fifteen nine have been given to residents of Southern States. Alabama has received the Spanish mission, Louisiana the French embassy, Tennessee the mission to Chili, Texas that of Turkey, Missouri the Swiss, Delaware the most important of all, the embassy to Great Britain. Kentucky furnished the minister to Peru, Georgia the one to Guatemala and Honduras, and North Carolina the appointment to the mission which includes Greece, Roumania and Servia.

These are not the only good berths in the foreign service which have gone to the South. Four consuls general positions, which are but little inferior in rank to those of ministers, have been chosen below Mason and Dixon's line. They are those to Vienna and Mexico. Both of which went to Missouri. Several other good foreign places have been given to the South.

THE SOUTH IN THE DEPARTMENTS.

In the domestic service the south has been almost equally fortunate. Mississippi has furnished an assistant secretary of the interior and the recorder of the general land office. Maryland has the superintendency of immigration and one of the positions on the district court of appeals. Virginia supplies the solicitor of the state department, South Carolina a commissioner of railroads and the second auditor of the treasury, Tennessee a solicitor of the treasury, Georgia an assistant attorney-general, Florida the deputy fifth auditor and Texas got another of the court of appeals judgeships.

Today West Virginia bagged the commissionership of internal revenue. Besides these, the three important cabinet positions held by southern men must not be forgotten. The secretarieships of the treasury, navy and interior. Altogether the south has fared very well, considering that the administration is only about six weeks old.

A strange story is told of the second marriage of Levy Thompson an old citizen of Ware county, Ga. On the day of his first wife's funeral, immediately after the solemnities were over, Mr. Thompson stepped forward with a young woman accompanying him, and asked the preacher to unite them in marriage. The preacher was bewildered, but consented to perform the ceremony, and Mr. Thompson left the funeral of his first wife accompanied by his bride. The ceremony took place at Kettle Creek church, and created quite a sensation among the people of that community. The couple are said to be living happily together in their country home.

In 1845 some citizens of Mobile presented Edmond S. Connor, an actor, a silver goblet. He is dead and his executors have sent the goblet back to the authorities at Mobile to be kept as a relic.

GENERAL FOREST'S ESCAPE.

Reminiscences of a Night of Horror—The War at the Wind up in Selma.

Not long since I went over to the battlefield of Selma where General Forrest fought his last battle, and which was among the last of the confederacy. A member of Forrest's escort, and near his person throughout the campaign that ended at Selma, also following him in his escape from the enemy the night after this fight and with him in his surrender to General Canby at Gainesville, Ala., April 10, 1865; there were "memories" awakened by that brief visit over that battlefield which had slumbered for more than a quarter of a century, and which yearned for utterance. The pen of the partisan historian has time and again endeavored to cast obloquy on the memory of one whom the future chronicler must characterize in very truth as one of the grandest military geniuses developed on either side of our late struggle. As I see General Forrest's character now, when I am best able to weigh it by the years of experience and observation which have passed since I followed him as a soldier, I feel that he possessed every requisite that constitutes greatness in a leader of men, and after this lapse of years he is more my ideal of a military hero today than he was when I sought to shelter his form with my own to save him from the enemy's fire on the field of Selma. No matter what emergency overtook him, or what odds or dangers beset him, there was never an occasion in which his immediate followers did not feel implicit confidence in his ability to carry himself and them out of it in safety. His men from experience gained absolute and unquestioning confidence in his genius and resources, nor did ever he in any single instance disappoint them. Distinguishing himself at Fort Donaldson by refusing to surrender when his commanding officers had decided to do so, he took his entire force in safety out from the toils that there beset him, and from that time till the close of the war he never once found himself where "surrender" ever entered his mind. No time, no place, nor circumstance, nor surroundings were ever able to dim the faith of his men in that star of destiny which ever illuminated his pathway. Though that pathway was often marked by seeming impenetrable barriers of soldiers and bayonets before him, still he was always able to penetrate or overcome them. Quick to perceive the emergencies of his situation, his action was equally as quick and the result as decisive as though carefully prepared and fully matured in advance. His escort had followed him out from so many such situations that it only needed his presence and word to do anything or face any danger without apprehension. And never was this faith more fully vindicated than in his and their escape from the enemy at Selma. It was just at nightfall when the works were carried by Wilson and the handful of defenders captured. The torch of the enemy was already at work when the dash for liberty was made. General Forrest knew himself surrounded by more than ten times his number, yet, nothing daunted, in person commanded, saying as he started on our march of death: "Boys, I am only your captain tonight, I shall share death with you or punish these fellows for this night's work." Several protested against this, promising to do our work even more efficiently if he would remain, but he would have none of it, and placing himself at the head of this little column, slowly we moved along through the undergrowth towards the enemy. We were equal for days and nights had passed; the atmosphere was heavy with the dense volume of smoke that hung like a death pall around us, and to that gloom of midnight darkness we plunged our trackless way, clutching carbines and six shooters, into that seemingly closing around and upon us. As we emerged from this volume of smoke and found ourselves well out from the city there was unfolded to our view a scene that baffles all attempts at description. From out the darkness, the sky was suddenly illuminated by forked tongues of flame that seemed intent on engulfing the very heavens themselves. In their mad career of ruin and desolation. It was not a novel sight to Forrest or his escort to witness a large conflagration at night, for we had frequently captured entire wagon trains of an army and burned them. We had torn up railroads, piling cross-ties and rails together, then bring them to warp, the rails and make them unfit for use, and such fires we had beheld from an eminence stretching over ten miles and more of distance, but never before had a scene like that before us greeted our sight. Here was a city seemingly all on fire, and as far as the eye could reach around it in every direction lurid flames from burning residences and farm houses met our gaze. And as we gazed we knew that vandal hands were plundering these beautiful homes, and that helpless women and children were being turned unprotected into the night with no refuge to shelter their sacred heads and no food for the morrow. Let men who have never witnessed a scene like this moralize as they may and profess horror at the vengeance which that night befell some of these vandals; but place them under similar trials, and they will wonder how it was that any who were caught in that night's work could have received humane treatment or been spared at all. It was only a brief moment that this vision was permitted us, for as we halted to gaze upon it a dark line appeared before us, and we knew that some bloody work was at hand. With his usual perception General Forrest saw only one road to safety, and this was his command to reach it: "Draw your six-shooters and follow me!" and before the enemy realized it, into and through their ranks we had cut our way, and this was repeated through an entire semi-circle of the city that night. Going out eastward we turned again northward, cutting through two separate lines of the enemy, then again westward until the road down which the main body of Wilson had passed was reached about midnight, then along the road north we were constantly meeting these vandal bands witnessing the ruin and desolation they were leaving in their track. Nothing but chimneys standing where handsome houses had been, and weeping groups of women and children around their smoldering ruins. Some ten miles or more on this road immediately north of Selma we came upon a band who had just plundered and set fire to a handsome residence, leaving the inmates wholly destitute. When Gen. Forrest ascertained that the remainder of the company, numbering about forty men, were just going into camp in an adjacent barn lot, by one of his invincible stratagems he himself captured the picket on duty, disarmed him and sent him to the rear of his little band. Then all passed by these others, greeting them as we passed, and turned into a thick growth of pine. We dismounted and on foot returned to have vengeance for some of the outrages we had that night been forced to witness. General Forrest in person commanded, saying as he started on our march of death: "Boys, I am only your captain tonight, I shall share death with you or punish these fellows for this night's work." Several protested against this, promising to do our work even more efficiently if he would remain, but he would have none of it, and placing himself at the head of this little column, slowly we moved along through the undergrowth towards the enemy. We were equal for days and nights had passed; the atmosphere was heavy with the dense volume of smoke that hung like a death pall around us, and to that gloom of midnight darkness we plunged our trackless way, lot we slowly marched. The moon had been hid all the night behind heavy clouds, but at this moment it came out from their obscuring folds and there within scarce ten paces distance were the agents whose work of ruin we had that night been witnessing. It is idle to speak of surprise to sleeping foes or generosity to brave enemies. We were not now soldiers on the battlefield, but were men avengers of burned homes and maimed wives and mothers whose cries of anguish were even then ringing in our ears. A sharp command: "Ready you, fire!" from our captain, a simultaneous volley, a few stray shots, and the work was done. It was terrible, but it was what vandal invaders caught in the act, as it were, might expect. As I reflect on it now, after all these years, I am filled with wonder and astonishment that citizens of a common country could ever have been engaged in such a horrid warfare. May Almighty God, in his wisdom and mercy spare us from a recurrence of such a calamity, but may the white winged messengers of peace and fraternal love ever dwell with in the borders of our loved land.

N. T. THOMPSON.

OBSOLETE WORDS.

A Large Number of Forgotten Words Still in the Dictionary.

The number of obsolete words that are to be found in Webster's dictionary is considerably larger than people have any idea of, says the Philadelphia Times. The following letter, written by an alleged poet to an editor, who had treated his poetry with derision, furnishes some idea of them:

"Sir: You have behaved like an impudent scrog! Like those who, envious of any moral celestial carry their ungodly to the height of creating sympathetically the fecund words which my polymathic genius uses with liberty to abridge the tongues of the weak! Sir, you have brazenly parodied my own pet names as though they were transograms. I will not coarsen reprobates—I will oblige a veil over the aitramental ingratitude which has clausured even my indiscreetible heart. I am silent on the oscillation which my coal juniper must have given you when I offered to become your fautor and admiral. I will not speak of the lipplitude the oblespy, you have shown in exacerbating me, one whose genius you should have approached with mental decalcination. So I tell you, without supervacuous words, nothing will render ignorable your conduct to me. I warn you that I would velicate your nose if I thought that any moral diarthrosis thereby could be performed—if I thought I should not impugnate my reputation. Go! tachygraphic scroggle, band with your crass iniquitate factors; draw oblications from the thought, if you can of having synchronically lost the existimation of the greatest poet since Milton!"

And yet all these words are to be found in the dictionary.

Notasulga is now coming to the front for a "boom," and as a starter is going to open up what they claim is one of the finest quarries in the country.

The Scottsboro Citizen says "Ed- itor Ward is worth his weight in gold to Bridgeport."

Father Abbelen, of Milwaukee, Wis., has been prospecting around Cullman for a suitable location for a Catholic Female Educational Institution.

While Mr. J. F. Harper, of Cul- man county, was away from home some masked raiders stole four shot guns from his house.

The Cleburne News in speaking of mining in that county says "the Turner mines have been operating a ten-stamp mill during the past six months with great success, and have recently closed a contract to add forty more stamps, which will make it a fifty-stamp mill."

This is from The Standard News.

"He will be allowed," said Mr. Bissell, slowly and positively, "to serve out four years of his own."

"Humph?" said Mr. Springer. "Well, here is a case that I have in mind: Near the end of his Presi- dency Mr. Arthur appointed a republican postmaster at Taylorsville Ill. Mr. Cleveland allowed him to serve four years, which carried him nearly through the Democratic ad- ministration; then a Democrat was appointed. Mr. Harrison promptly removed this Democrat and named a Republican in his stead. This Republican served through more than three years of Mr. Har- rison's administration and then died. A Republican successor was ap- pointed. Is he to be allowed to hold office four years more?"

"He is," said Mr. Bissell.

"But," expostulated Mr. Sprin- ger, "that will give us a Democratic incumbent for little more than one year of Mr. Cleveland's two terms."

"It's the rule," said Mr. Bissell.

"It's cheerful," said Mr. Sprin- ger. "Washington Post."

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The financial column of The New York Times of Wednesday, contained the following very significant paragraphs:

"Wall Street waited anxiously all day yesterday for news from Washington. It was not until after business closed that anything definite information was obtainable, however. But this did not keep the rumor mongers from liveliness. They filled the streets with "news" the whole day through. They bulletined the big issue of bonds. They cared all the financial ills. The only difficulty was that while all these gentlemen guessing, very few of them guessed alike.

Just as the market closed the following Washington dispatch was received and sent out by the Dow Jones Financial News agency:

"The Cabinet has adjourned. The question of bond sales was considered. You can state positively that there will be none issued, even should the gold reserve go $25,000 below where it is now."

If this dispatch is reliable, it makes clear that Wall Street has not much influence with the Treasury Department at present, for it has been fairly deluging Washington with appeals for bonds. There doesn't seem to be any Fort Carlisle in Wall Street.

"No Fort Carlisle in Wall Street." This is no more nor less than the Democracy of the country expected when Mr. Carlisle was called upon to administer the Treasury Department. The country had been so long accustomed to seeing the financial policy of the administration fired off, after the Secretary of the Treasury had paid a flying trip to Wall Street to consult with Wall Street brokers and speculators, they demanded a new order of things, and Mr. Carlisle's appearance was warmly welcomed.

John Sherman set the example for all succeeding Republican Secretaries of the Treasury, and Fort Sherman in Wall Street has been the haven of Republican administration for financial shelter. But Mr. Carlisle is a Democrat and Democratic ideas will prevail so long as he administers the financial department of the government. As soon as Wall Street learns that it cannot bulldoze Mr. Carlisle with the country elsewhere behind him, then there will be a let up in the daily monetary scare sent out from Wall Street to influence trade everywhere and in every channel.
